ROUTE Delhi → Agra → Jaipur	STYLE Private · young · social	GUIDE Government-approved

Welcome to India. We have built these seven days for a group who want more than monuments — Holi and Holika Dahan, local people, Indian food, colourful markets, village life, traditional crafts and the kind of days you remember afterwards. The famous sights are in there too, at a pace that leaves room to stop and talk to people.

02 — DAY BY DAY

Day by Day

1

DAY ONE · SATURDAY 20 MARCH · DELHI

Arrival, and a gentle first evening

Airport pickup in Delhi and transfer to your hotel, with time to settle in and rest.

In the evening, a walk through the neighbourhood with chai and Indian snacks — a first taste of the food, the street life and the noise, without a schedule. An optional wander through a local market if you are up for it.

Overnight in Delhi.

Day by Day

2

DAY TWO · SUNDAY 21 MARCH · DELHI

Old Delhi, New Delhi, and Holika Dahan after dark

Old Delhi first — the Jama Masjid area, the bazaar lanes, a cycle-rickshaw ride through the narrow streets, street food and chai where the locals eat.

Then New Delhi: Humayun's Tomb, India Gate, the Presidential area and Qutub Minar.

In the evening, Holika Dahan — the bonfire night before Holi. You will be among local families for the traditional rituals, the festival sweets and the atmosphere that builds towards tomorrow.

Overnight in Delhi.

3

DAY THREE · MONDAY 22 MARCH · DELHI → AGRA

Holi — the day itself

An early drive to Agra — approximately 230 km, four to five hours. The roads are quiet on Holi morning.

Then Holi in Agra, and this is the day the trip is built around: colours, music and dancing, local people who will pull you straight into it, gujiya and festival sweets, chaat and chai, henna if you want it, and photographs you will be glad you took.

Afterwards, back to the hotel to shower, change and recover.

Later, a proper Agra food evening — street food, chaat and traditional sweets.

Overnight in Agra.

Day by Day

4

DAY FOUR · TUESDAY 23 MARCH · AGRA

The Taj Mahal, and the craft behind it

The Taj Mahal with your government-approved guide — the history, the love story and the architecture, taken slowly, with plenty of time for photographs.

Then Agra Fort, the red sandstone Mughal fortress across the river.

Afternoon with the craftspeople: a marble inlay demonstration by artisans who still work the way the Taj was built, traditional handicrafts, and a hands-on go at it yourself if you would like.

Evening in the local bazaar — handicrafts, chai and sweets, henna.

Overnight in Agra.

5

DAY FIVE · WEDNESDAY 24 MARCH · AGRA → JAIPUR

A village on the road to Jaipur

The drive to Jaipur is approximately 240 km, around five hours with the stops.

On the way, a village visit — ordinary rural life rather than a performance for visitors. Tea and snacks with a local family, artisans at work, traditional crafts, and time to take photographs and talk to people. A small craft activity if the group wants one.

Arrival in Jaipur and hotel check-in.

Evening out in Jaipur's bazaars — colour, street food, chai, handicrafts and henna.

Overnight in Jaipur.

Day by Day

6

DAY SIX · THURSDAY 25 MARCH · JAIPUR

Amber Fort, and an afternoon of your choosing

Amber Fort in the morning — the palace, the Rajput history and the view back down the valley. A photo stop at Jal Mahal on the lake, then Hawa Mahal and the streets around it.

The afternoon is yours to pick: an art and craft workshop, a local food experience, or a community and local-life experience. Tell us nearer the time, or on the day.

Evening in the Jaipur markets, then a relaxed farewell dinner.

Overnight in Jaipur.

7

DAY SEVEN · FRIDAY 26 MARCH · DEPARTURE

A slow last morning

A relaxed breakfast and free time.

Depending on your flight: a local café and chai, a last market visit, handicraft shopping, photographs, one more craft experience, or simply a long lunch.

Private transfer to Jaipur Airport or Delhi Airport, whichever your flight requires. End of services.

Worth knowing. Holika Dahan falls on the evening of Sunday 21 March 2027 and Holi itself on Monday 22 March — your dates sit exactly right. On Holi morning the roads are unusually quiet, which makes the drive to Agra easy, though colour is thrown freely in the streets; wear clothes you are happy to lose and keep phones in a plastic bag. The Taj Mahal is closed every Friday; your Taj morning is Tuesday 23 March, so you are clear.

What You Will Actually Do

01 Holi & Holika Dahan

The bonfire night and the day of colour, among local people rather than watching from the side.

02 The Taj Mahal & Agra Fort

Unhurried, with a government-approved guide who tells it properly.

03 Old Delhi by Rickshaw

Jama Masjid, the bazaar lanes and street food where the locals eat.

04 Amber Fort & Jaipur

The Rajput palace, Jal Mahal and the streets around Hawa Mahal.

05 Village & Community

Real rural life on the road to Jaipur — tea, artisans and conversation.

06 Art & Craft Workshops

Marble inlay in Agra, and a hands-on workshop in Jaipur if you choose it.

07 Indian Food & Chai

Street food, chaat, sweets and chai stops all the way through.

08 Markets & Henna

Colourful bazaars in all three cities, with mehndi whenever you want it.

We are looking forward to this one, Caoimhe — Holi with a group who actually want to be in the middle of it is the best week of our year. If you would like any day changed, more free time or less, just tell us and we will rebuild it around you.
